Tom DeMark

Founder/CEO

Tom DeMark is the creator of the DeMARK Indicators and the founder and CEO of DeMARK Analytics, LLC. The DeMARK studies are known internationally for their objective and mechanically driven approach to both trading and investing and are designed to identify and anticipate potential price activity in the financial markets. Mr. DeMark has spent nearly 50 years developing, trading and teaching his techniques to institutional professionals around the world and continues to be actively involved in the financial markets.

Formerly an Executive Vice-President of Tudor, Mr. DeMark currently serves as special advisor to Steven A. Cohen of Point72 Asset Management, a role he has held for more than two decades. His resume includes consulting to some of the largest trading institutions and fund managers in the world, including Goldman Sachs, Steinhardt Partners, Loews Corporation, Citigroup Inc, JP Morgan, IBM, Union Carbide, MMM, Soros Fund Management, Omega Advisors, Charlie DiFrancesca, as well as many others.

"When I use DeMark's work, I feel like I'm wielding Thor's hammer," says David Goel, managing partner at hedge fund Matrix Capital Management, which manages $2 billion. In Norse mythology, the thunder god Thor carries a massive mallet with which he crushes mountains.

Burbank says that he's tested DeMark's algorithms and that they're much more predictive than other systems. "Using DeMark indicators is like seeing the market in color, when before you were looking at it in black and white," he says.
